1. PURPOSE

This Standard is designed to:

- assist those persons covered by the Standard to comply with their obligations under insider trading provisions of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act)
- assist in maintaining market confidence in the integrity of dealings in IGO securities; and
- establish a procedure for dealing in IGO securities by persons covered by the Standard.

2. PERSONS TO WHOM THIS STANDARD APPLIES

This Standard applies to all directors and officers, as well as full-time, part-time and casual employees, contractors, consultants and advisers, of IGO Limited (IGO or the Company) and IGO group companies (the Group), and their associates (each being IGO Personnel). Associates includes:

- a family member who may be expected to influence, or be influenced by, the IGO Personnel in his or her dealings with the Company and its securities. This may include the IGO Personnel's spouse, partner, children or dependants, and the children or dependants of the IGO Personnel's partner; and
- a company or any other entity which the IGO Personnel has an ability to control, including a family trust or superannuation fund, including pursuant to standing orders to trade.

Where this Standard requires IGO Personnel to do an act or thing (for example, obtaining written clearance), the relevant IGO Personnel must do that act or thing in respect of the Associate.

There are additional requirements for directors, senior managers and other employees and their Associates, as determined by the Managing Director & CEO and Company Secretary from time to time. These will be known as Restricted Persons (see section 3 below). The Company Secretary will maintain a list of Restricted Persons. All Restricted Persons will receive an email from the Company Secretary informing them of their status as a Restricted Person and the additional requirements as detailed in this Standard.

3. GENERAL POLICY

3.1 Prohibition

IGO Personnel must not:

- deal in (that is, apply for, purchase or sell) IGO securities (including, but not limited to, options and shares) or enter into an agreement to do so
- procure, advise or encourage another person to deal in IGO securities in any way or enter into an agreement to do so; or
- pass on any potentially price sensitive information to another person where IGO Personnel ought reasonably to know that the person may deal or procure another person to deal in IGO securities, where they may be in possession of price sensitive information or IGO has given notice to any or all IGO Personnel that they must not deal in securities (either for a specified period, or until IGO gives further notice).

In addition, IGO Personal must not deal in IGO securities if it would not satisfy the Front Page Test (see further below).

Restricted Persons may not deal in IGO securities at any time unless they have applied for (using the form annexed) and received, the relevant approval (see below).

3.2 Price sensitive or inside information

Price sensitive or inside information is information which is not generally available and, if it was generally available, would be likely to have a material effect on the price or value of IGO securities (upwards or downwards). Price sensitive or inside information can include matters of speculation or supposition and matters relating to intentions or likely intentions of a person. It may help to identify such information if IGO Personnel ask themselves whether the information would be likely to influence a person who commonly invests in IGO securities, to deal. Potential examples include:

- exploration results or interpretations
- a material increase or decrease in IGO's financial performance from previous results or forecasts
- a proposed material business or asset acquisition or sale
- a serious accident at one of the Company's operations
- proposed material legal proceedings which have or may be initiated by or against IGO
- a proposal to undertake a new issue of securities
- a proposal to undertake a major change in financing
- senior management changes; and
- information that is being withheld in accordance with the exception to the continuous disclosure requirements in ASX Listing Rule 3.1A (for example because it is confidential and incomplete, like the status of contract negotiations).

3.3 Front Page Test

It is important that public confidence in the Group is maintained. It would be damaging to the Group's reputation if the market or the general public perceived that IGO Personnel might be taking advantage of their position in the Group to make financial gains (by dealing in securities on the basis of confidential information).

As a guiding principle, Personnel should ask themselves:

If the market was aware of all the current circumstances, could I be perceived to be taking advantage of my position in an inappropriate way? How would it look if it was reported on the front page of the newspaper? (The Front Page Test).

Personnel who are unsure should consult the Company Secretary.

Where any approval is required for a dealing under this Standard, approval will not be granted where the dealing would not satisfy the Front Page Test.

3.4 Restricted persons

Blackout Periods

In addition to the overriding prohibition against dealing in IGO securities when a person is in possession of inside information, or where the dealing would not satisfy the Front Page Test, Restricted Persons and their Associates are at all times prohibited from dealing in IGO securities during the prescribed Blackout Periods. These periods are as follows:

- the period between the Company's quarter end (September and March quarters only) and the next trading day that is at least one full trading day after the announcement of each quarterly report
- the period between the Company's half year end and full year end and the next trading day that is at least one full trading day after the announcement of the half-yearly results and annual results respectively; and
- any other period imposed by the IGO Board of Directors (the Board) from time to time (Additional Period).

Restricted Persons must not disclose to anyone that an Additional Period is in effect.

Exceptional circumstances

A Restricted Person, who is not in possession of inside information, may be given written clearance to deal in IGO securities during a blackout period in exceptional circumstances, such as severe financial hardship or compliance with a court order. The Board, in its absolute discretion and, if necessary, subject to it receiving prior written legal opinion that insider trading is unlikely, may approve the dealing of IGO securities during a Blackout Period.

Written clearance

Restricted Persons must not deal in IGO securities at any time, unless the Restricted Person first obtains written clearance prior to dealing. Such clearance must be obtained by filling out and submitting the Clearance to Deal form attached at Appendix 1 to this Standard which also states those authorised to give written clearance. The form is to be submitted to the Company Secretary, or in their absence the Managing Director & CEO, in person, by mail or by email as detailed on the form.

Any written clearance granted under this Standard will be valid for five business days from the time which it is given or such other period as may be determined. The expiry time of the clearance will be stated when the clearance is granted.

A clearance to deal can be given or refused, without giving any reasons. A clearance to deal can be withdrawn at any time. The decision to refuse the clearance is final and binding on the person seeking the clearance. If clearance to deal is refused, the individual seeking the clearance must keep that information confidential and not disclose it to anyone.

A clearance to deal is not an endorsement to deal; IGO Personnel must still comply with applicable laws. If IGO Personnel have any doubts, they should not deal.

There is also a legal prohibition on dealing in securities of any entity (which includes, without limitation entities which are customers, joint venturers or contractors of, or negotiating with, IGO) while in possession of price sensitive information, which carries substantial penalties (including fines and/or imprisonment).

4. EXCEPTIONS

Notwithstanding section 3, the following dealing is excluded from the prohibition in this Standard:

- dealings that result in no effective change to the beneficial interest in the securities
- participation in an employee, executive or director equity plan operated by the Company (including an exercise of options or rights granted under such a plan). However, where securities in the Company granted under an employee, executive or director equity plan cease to be held under the terms of that plan, any dealings in those securities must only occur in accordance with this Standard
- accepting an offer approved by the Board and made to all or most of the security holders, such as a rights issue, a security purchase plan, a dividend or distribution reinvestment plan and an equal access buy-back
- undertakings to accept, or the acceptance of, a takeover offer or a scheme of arrangement
- an investment in, or trading in units of, a fund or other scheme (other than a scheme only investing in IGO securities) where the assets of the fund or other scheme are invested at the discretion of a third party; and
- a disposal that is the result of a secured lender exercising their rights, where the director or senior manager has already received prior written clearance for the original financing arrangement in accordance with this Standard.

5. REPORTING DEALING

In addition to obtaining written clearance prior to dealing, as detailed in Section 3.4, Directors must give notice to the Company Secretary within two business days of any dealing in IGO securities by themselves or an Associate.

6. OTHER RESTRICTIONS

All Personnel are prohibited from entering into transactions or arrangements which limit the economic risk of holding unvested entitlements, or entitlements that are subject to a holding lock or similar deal restriction under the terms of any employee, executive or director equity plan operated by the Company.

All Personnel are prohibited from entering into funding arrangements relating to their interests in IGO securities where the funding security would affect the equivalent of 3% or more of the Company's listed shares.

Personnel may not deal in IGO securities on a short term basis, for example, buying and then selling IGO securities within a three month period (subject to the exceptions set out in section 3) or entering into forward contracts, or short selling at any time, except in circumstances of special hardship, with the Chair's prior written approval (email suffices).

Without prior approval, directors and senior management should not enter into agreements that provide lenders with rights over their interests in IGO securities (such as the disposal of some or all of those IGO securities) if a secured lender exercises their rights (for example, under a margin lending or secured financing arrangement).

7. CONSEQUENCES OF BREACH

It is the individual's responsibility to ensure that any trading complies with the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules, the Code of Conduct and this Dealing in Securities Standard. Any non-compliance with this Standard will be regarded as serious misconduct which may entitle IGO to terminate the employment of any personnel found to be in breach of this Standard.

The breach of insider trading provisions in the Corporations Act is a serious matter which may result in criminal liability including substantial monetary fines and/or imprisonment. It could also result in civil liability, which may include being sued for any loss suffered as a result of insider trading.

8. STANDARD REVIEW

This Standard will be reviewed annually by the Board or its delegated corporate governance committee to check that it is operating effectively and assess what changes may be required.
